

WINDOW PERF

PRODUCT DESCRIPTION

Perforated window vinyl is a decal material that is covered with small uniform holes. The print side is white. The backside is black. This allows the image to be seen from the outside, while the inside has a transparent, tinted window look. Interior, or 2nd surface window perf, is also available. Because it's applied to the inside of the window, permit issues and vandalism can be avoided. Conformable window perf is another type of 3M specialty material used specifically for vehicle windows. This must be used to conform to the curves of automobile windows.
